THE

South-Carolina Gazette.

From MONDAY May 7th, to MONDAY May 14th, 1750.

Mr. Timothy,

I am commanded by the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly to ſend you the incloſed, which you are to print in the CAROLINA GAZETTE as ſoon as poſſible: It is the Negro Cæſar's CURE for POISON, and likewiſe his Cure for the Bite of a Rattle-Snake: For diſcovering of which the General Aſſembly hath thought fit to purchaſe his Freedom, and grant him an Allowance of £. 100 per Ann. during Life. I am 9th of May, 1750. Yours, &c.

JAMES IRVING.

The Negro CÆSAR's Cure for Poiſon.

TAKE the roots of Plantane and wild Hoare-hound, freſh or dried, three ounces, boil them together in two quarts of water to one quart, and ſtrain it; of this decoction let the patient take one third part three mornings faſting ſucceſſively, from which if he finds any relief, it muſt be continued, 'till he is perfectly recovered: On the contrary, if he finds no alteration after the third doſe, it is a ſign that the patient has either not been poiſoned at all, or that it has been with ſuch poiſon as Cæſar's antidotes will not remedy, ſo may leave off the decoction.

During the cure, the patient muſt live on a ſpare diet, and abſtain from eating mutton, pork, butter, or any other fat or oily food.

N.B. The Plantane or Hoare-hound, will either of them cure alone, but they are moſt efficacious together.

In ſummer, you may take one handful of the roots and branches of each, in place of three ounces of the roots of each.

For drink, during the cure, let them take the following.

TAKE of the roots of Golden-rod, ſix ounces, or in ſummer two large handfuls of the roots and branches together, and boil them in two quarts of water to one quart, (to which alſo may be added a little Hoare-hound and Saſſafras,) to this decoction, after it is ſtrain'd, add a glaſs of rum or brandy, and ſweeten it with ſugar, for ordinary drink.

Sometimes an inward fever attends ſuch as are poiſoned, for which he orders the following.

TAKE a pint of Wood-Aſhes and three pints of water, ſtir and mix them well together, let them ſtand all night, and ſtrain or decant the lye off in the morning, of which ten ounces may be taken ſix mornings following, warm'd or cold, according to the weather.

Theſe medicines have no ſenſible operation, tho' ſometimes they work in the bowels, and give a gentle ſtool.

The ſymptons attending ſuch as are poiſoned are as follows.

A PAIN of the breaſt, difficulty of breathing, a load at the pit of the ſtomach, an irregular pulſe, burning and violent pains of the viſcera above and below the navel, very reſtleſs at night, ſometimes wandering pains over the whole body, a reaching and inclination to vomit, profuſe ſweats (which prove always ſerviceable,) ſlimy ſtools both when coſtive and looſe, the face of a pale and yellow colour, ſometimes a pain and inflamation of the throat, the appetite is generally weak, and ſome cannot eat any; thoſe who have been long poiſoned, are generally very feeble, and weak in their limbs, ſometime ſpit a great deal, the whole ſkin peals, and likewiſe the hair falls off.

Cæſar's Cure for the bite of a Rattle-ſnake.

TAKE of the roots of Plantane or Hoare-hound, (in ſummer roots and branches together) a ſufficient quantity, bruiſe them in a morter, and ſqueeze out the juice, of which give, as ſoon as poſſible, one large ſpoonful; If he is ſwell'd you muſt force it down his throat: This generally will cure; but if the patient finds no relief in an hour after, you may give another ſpoonful, which never fails.

If the roots are dried, they muſt be moiſtened with a little water.

To the wound may be applied, a leaf of good tobacco moiſten'd with rum.

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE, for January, 1750.

FRANCE.

MR. de la Bourdenaye is condemned to reſtore to the king 7 millions of livres, and to be impriſoned 20 years in the Baſtile. — The regiment of French guards has for the firſt time gone through the Pruſſian exerciſe; for which end their fuſils have been ſhortened. HOLLAND.

A Letter from the Hague.

'The people of this country have not for many years experienced ſo univerſal a want of money; the great ſtate-lottery (which was fill'd in one day, at 1000 guilders a ticket) has drained the rich, as the year's aſſeſſment, in lieu of exciſes, has the middling ſort. Nothing but murmurs are heard, and dragooning expected inſtead of redreſs. Under pretence of preventing frauds, no merchandize, ſubject or exciſe, can be removed, or money weighed, without a permit, which coſts from a ſtyver and a half, to ſix or ſeven ſtyvers. In Amſterdam ſome have refuſed the gaugers admittance into their ſhops, others have ſhut up their doors, and ſtopt trade, and are ſeeking ſettlements in other places, rather than carry it on at the expence of their liberties: But they have been made to underſtand, that in caſe of further reſiſtance, 6000 ſoldiers will be quartered in their city. What effect this will produce is not hard to judge.'

This account is manifeſtly not from a friend of the new government. Letters on that ſide, tell us, that ſince the ſtadtholder's puniſhing Haerlem, the collectors proceed to raiſe the taxes every where without any oppoſition; except from ſome low people at Rotterdam, who had begun to clamour, but were impriſoned by the magiſtrates.
